					Three female passengers boarded the bus. Two of them went to the back of the bus and began physically fighting each other. KCPD and KCATA road supervisor initially sent to location to assist. During the time the women were fighting, they reportedly fell on or bumped two passengers in the area of the bus where they were fighting. One of these affected people was in a wheelchair. By the time KCPD arrived, one of the combatants had left the bus and the other one had a bloody nose. MAST #5907 was sent to location and treated the injured combatant at the scene. She was not transported away by ambulance. She also refused to press charges on the other combatant. Because there was blood on the bus, it was removed from service to be cleaned. All passengers aboard were transferred to the next bus. The two passengers who were reportedly bumped and fallen on during the fight indicated that they might be hurt, but neither asked for immediate medical attention. It was noted in the supervisor's report that the woman in the wheelchair did have a brief conversation with the KCPD responding officer before boarding the following bus.

It was towed from the scene of the accident event. The auto that struck the supervisor's car sustained heavy front end damage with a crumpled hood, front bumper completely separated from the auto, broken front lights, and fluid leaks. This auto also had to be towed from the event scene. The extent of the damage to the bus and the supervisor's car are listed below.
